Seneca County Service and Support Administration

A Service and Support Administrator (SSA) is a professional who may play a vital role in helping individuals, including children and adults, with developmental disabilities navigate services, support, and resources. SSAs act as advocates and facilitators, ensuring individuals and their families receive the services they need to thrive. We will review how folks can qualify, benefits to having an SSA, and go over real-life examples of how SSAs can assist. We are happy to answer any questions folks may have as well.

Collaboration Therapy

Feeding is so much more than just sitting down and eating. As parents or caregivers it can feel frustrating or difficult, but it doesn't have to be! Identifying signs of frustration and finding ways to make feeding fun, while involving your child, will help to make feeding time more enjoyable for everyone. We will help to give you tools for your mealtime toolbox that are sensory engaging and regulating. You can make feeding a fun and inviting experience that includes everyone.
